ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Cleared From Our Exchanges.

The state democratic committee has organized by electing E. S. Harris of Burlington, chairman, and Henry Conant of Winoski, secretary and treasurer.

The June bulletin of the state board of health has been issued. It contains among other things a full report of the analysis of a large number of samples of milk from all parts of the state many of which were found to be badly contaminated with dirt and other foreign matter. Other samples were found to contain a quantity of pus. The bulletin contains a list of fifty rules which if observed will insure clean milk.

The June entrance examinations to the university of Vermont were held in the Williams Science hall Thursday. Thirty-four young men and one young lady took the examinations. Only a few of this number were from Burlington, the others being from other towns and cities of the state. The number of students to take the entrance examinations in June is somewhat larger than in former years and may be, though not necessarily so, an indication of a large class in the fall.

AUTOMOBILISTS IN COURT.

Hearing Before J. H. Merrifield—Decision Reserved.

Brattleboro, June 29.—The situation with respect to the sixteen drivers of automobiles who were fined with stop tickets a week ago by officers under the direction of the village trustee, reached its acute stage when Village Attorney A. F. Schwenk, acting under a vote of the board of trustees, began prosecution and issued warrants summoning the offenders before Justice John H. Merrifield.

Fred C. Adams waived examination and was bound over to William Conant, court clerk in bonds of $50. The others stood trial and the case against W. E. Haskell was first taken up. Judge E. L. Waterman and E. W. Gibson appeared for the respondent. As the justice did not have jurisdiction to try the case the hearing was on the question of whether there was sufficient evidence to bind the respondent over. The only witnesses examined were policeman William Warren and Deputy Sheriff Chauncey I. Knapp, who testified that Mr. Haskell covered the engine of his car with a blanket, and that they did not stand within several feet of the posts marking the ends of the course, and therefore could not tell for a certainty what the time was.

The respondent's counsel argued that he was running as he ordinarily did, and that the time kept by the officers was inaccurate, and that they did not stand within several feet of the posts marking the ends of the course, and therefore could not tell for a certainty what the time was.

In reply Mr. Schwenk said in a dramatic way to the court: "Give ten seconds for the race, and you will have greatly exceeded the limit. Those men have had warning enough, and it is just because they were running fast that they ordinarily do that they have been brought into court today." Justice Merrifield wanted a little time to consider the evidence and adjourned court to 10 o'clock Wednesday.

After the session, Charles A. Harris entered complaint against Henry R. Brown, one of the builders, charging him with speeding his automobile. Charles R. Crosby afterward waived examination and was bound over to county court.

When court convened Thursday Justice Merrifield continued the cases against the automobilists to July 9 at the request of counsel for the respondents. It was expected that he would give a decision in the Haskell case, but that was continued with the others.

Sonnet on and Against Time.

Al, Time, how fleet thou goest and how fast!
As Horace once poetically said,
And all the other poets have read,
They are unnumbered, from first to last,
The Future is not yet; gone is the Past;
The Present in a moment will be dead
And (this is sonnet license) buried;
So be it then, forsooth, the day is fast!

How many times it has been said!
And yet
In all my books of poetry and prose
No single glowing instance do I find
Where bard hath ever mentioned it!
Let
That never Time one-half so quickly goes

As in a poker game—when you're behind.

HIS SKULL FRACTURED.

Lawrence Workman Badly Injured by the Bursting of Wheel.

Lawrence, Mass., June 29.—Ernest A. Lind, a machinist employed in the box factory of the D. W. Pingree company, was badly injured by the bursting of an empty wheel yesterday afternoon. "A Man Named John Wesley."

In one of her lectures, Frances Willard told the story of a young nobleman who found himself in a little village away off in Cornwall, where he never had been before. It was a hot day and he was thirsty, and his thirst increased. He was looking for a place where he could get something stronger than water could be had.

At last he stopped and made impatient inquiry of an old peasant who was on his way home after a day of toil. "How is it that I can't get a glass of liquor anywhere in this wretched village?" he demanded, harshly.

The old man, recognizing his questioner as a man of rank, pulled off his cap and bowed humbly, but nevertheless there was a proud flash in his faded eyes as he answered quietly: "My lord, something over a hundred years ago a man named John Wesley came to these parts, and with that the old peasant walked on."

It would be interesting to know just what the nobleman thought as he pursued his thirsty way. But what a splendid time was this to the preaching of John Wesley? For more than a century the word that he had spoken for his Master had kept the curse of drunkenness out of that village; and who can estimate the influence for good thus exerted upon the lives of those sturdy peasants? What nobler memorial could be desired by any Christian minister?

Altruism.
